This addendum will amend Bid #09-018, Outdoor Lighting, Halide Luminaires and Poles (Materials Only) originally issued on Friday, February 20, 2009. QUESTION: My concern is the wind load rate on these poles; the square tapered steel pole @ 39' does not have a wind load rate of 100mph. This will not support the weight of the fixtures! Has anyone else suggested this to you? Should I use a round tapered steel pole substitute that is rated to handle 100mph?

ANSWER: We understand and acknowledge that we may have specified a pole that will not handle the proper wind load and will continue to investigate. For your protection, please feel free to mark the "Exceptions Page" with a notation that the products proposed are bid as specified, but will not in your professional opinion meet the wind load requirements as specified.
